

A reflective walk with writer Emma Decent and her poetry and prose in the beautiful hills of Cornholme, Todmorden

A magical and unique experience of landscape, writing and performance for these new times. On this slow-paced, guided walk in the hills west of Todmorden, Emma shares poetry and prose inspired by this land that she loves. Reflecting on time, memory and being where you are now, this is an experience to put your feet on the ground and your heart at centre.

'It was wonderful to hear Emma recite her work in the landscape that inspires her. The words flew off the page.' Kate

'Talented Emma gives words to the voices of our valley - its rocks, its hills, its trees' Ros

'A magical experience' Karen

'The poems were particularly moving set against the landscape. The evocative image of stories under the stones was very powerful.' Rachel

'A wonderful and unusual way to experience this beautiful landscape' Jen

A real live cultural event

Dates through Summer & Autumn 2020

Small groups

Social distancing

2.1 mile circular walk

Moderate to strenuous

Suitable 14 years +

Sorry no dogs

Pay what you feel £5 - £15

Booking & information:
emmadecent@talk21.com
emmadecent.co.uk

*Layer on layer I am made
With every moon
The story changes.*

